INTRODUCTION.

ABOUT B.C. 100 began a series of movements among the German tribes east of the Rhine, threatening danger alike to the Gallic tribes in the west and even to the great empire of the Romans in the south. Two of these German tribes in B.C. 102 had poured innumerable hordes across the Rhine in search of new homes. Marius had rolled back the tide of invasion from Italian soil by his victory over the Teutons at Aquae, and over the Cimbri at Vercellae, where he saved Rome from a ferocious horde which had defeated seven armies. The danger arising from these southern invasions had never really ceased. The mutual jealousy of the Gallic tribes weakened the barrier on the west : moreover, one of these tribes, the Sequani, had actually invited Ariovistus, king of some of the Suevic tribes from the east side of the Rhine, to take up his quarters amongst them. This step they had bitter cause to regret, for when he demanding a third of their lands, and they resisted, he made a terrible slaughter of them at Magetobriga. With the foresight of a great statesman, Caesar saw that nothing but the reduction of the Gallic tribes to Roman dominion would be a barrier to these incursions on the west, and so he had himself appointed governor of Cisalpine Gaul, Illyricum, and the Province. He received by a vote of the tribes the government, first, for five years (59-54 B.C.), and afterwards for five years more.

A rumour at this time reached Rome that the Helvetii, a tribe akin to the Gauls, were contemplating an emigration westward into the country of the Santones, who dwelt on the western shore of Gaul. On them, too, the tide of migration from the north had pressed heavily; they had, however, bravely held their own. But they were growing weary of the constant struggle, and determined at last to seek more easy quarters: moreover, their population was increasing and their narrow valleys were growing too strait for them. It was difficult to widen their borders: the Jura Mountains on the west, the Rhine on the north, snow-clad mountains on the east and south formed natural boundaries which hemmed them in. There was no escape but by universal emigration. Orgorix, who had originated the idea, was chosen to superintend the preparations, which were conducted upon a gigantic scale. At last in B.C. 58 they were ready to move. Two outlets alone were practicable. One of these, over the Jura Mountains, through the Sequani, was so arduous that they were compelled to abandon it; and they determined to try the other, by the Lake of Geneva and over the Rhine, through the territory of the Allobroges. The vast procession numbered 368,000 persons, of whom 92,000 men were capable of bearing arms. In April, Caesar hurried from Rome to interrupt them and cut down the bridge at Geneva. A formal request was sent him by the Helvetii for permission to pass through the Province, and the ambassadors were requested to return on the 13th April. By this time Caesar had been enabled to fortify the south bank of the Rhone, and he refused to give way. The Helvetii attempted to force their way across, but were baffled, and they had to seek an entrance into Gaul through the Sequani. Terrified at their approach, the Aedui appealed to Caesar for help; he meanwhile had been raising fresh levies of troops in North Italy, and with these he hurried over the Mont Genève, and caught up the Helvetii as they were in the act of crossing the Arar. The part which had not yet crossed the river he cut to pieces; in so doing he was wiping off an old score, for they turned out to be the canton Tigurinus, which had fifty years before severely defeated the Romans under L. Cassius Longinus. A truce was called, and terms discussed; but the demands of the Helvetii were so arrogant that Caesar refused to entertain further proposals. They continued their march, and Caesar hung upon their rear for fifteen days. An opportunity presented itself at last of attacking them in front and in rear, but it was lost through the incapacity of one of his officers, Cossidius. Caesar then made a feint of flight. The Helvetii pursued him to a spot 18 miles west of Bibracte, where he took them at a disadvantage and utterly routed them. The survivors were sent back home, and Caesar turned his arms against the German, Ariovistus.

DIRECTIONS FOR TRANSLATING.

1. Pick out the finite verb (the predicate) and find out its voice, mood, tense, number, and person.
2. Find the subject or subjects with which it agrees. Translate.
3. If the verb is incomplete, find the object or completion. Translate.
4. See if the subject is enlarged by any of the methods mentioned below ; if it is, translate, taking the enlargements with the subject.
5. See if the object is enlarged ; if it is, translate, taking the enlargements with the object.
6. Take the extensions of the predicate. Translate.
7. Translate finally, putting in the introductory conjunctions or other words not yet taken.

The subject may be

1. A noun.
2. A pronoun (perhaps understood in the verb).
3. An adjective.
4. An infinitive mood.
5. A phrase.

The subject may be enlarged by

1. An adjective or participle.
2. A noun in apposition.
3. A noun in the genitive case.
4. A relative clause.
5. A participial phrase.

The object or completion may consist of a phrase, or of any of the parts of speech which can form a subject.

The object may be enlarged in the same way as the subject

The predicate may be extended by

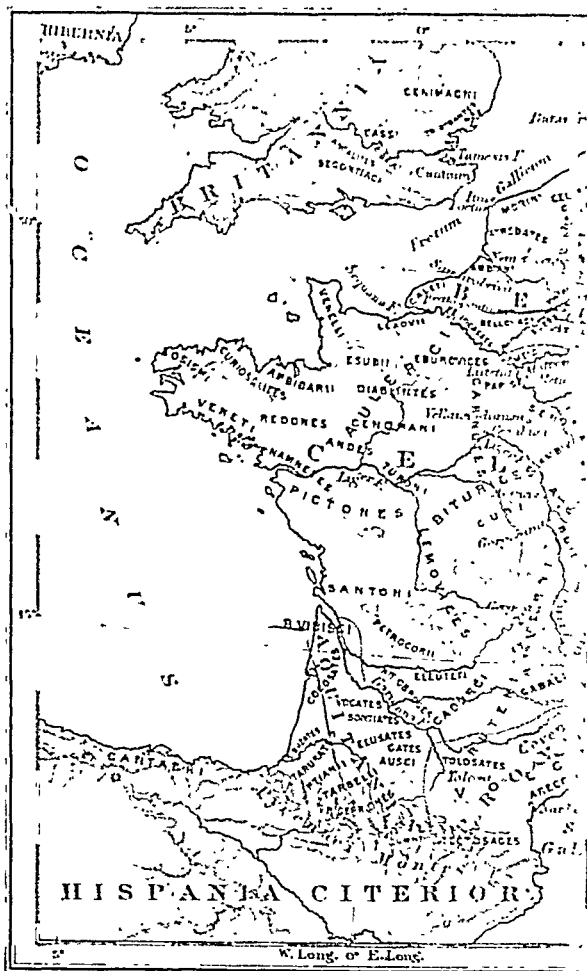

1. Adverb.
2. Ablative case.
3. Preposition and its case.
4. Adverbial sentence.

RULES OF AGREEMENT.

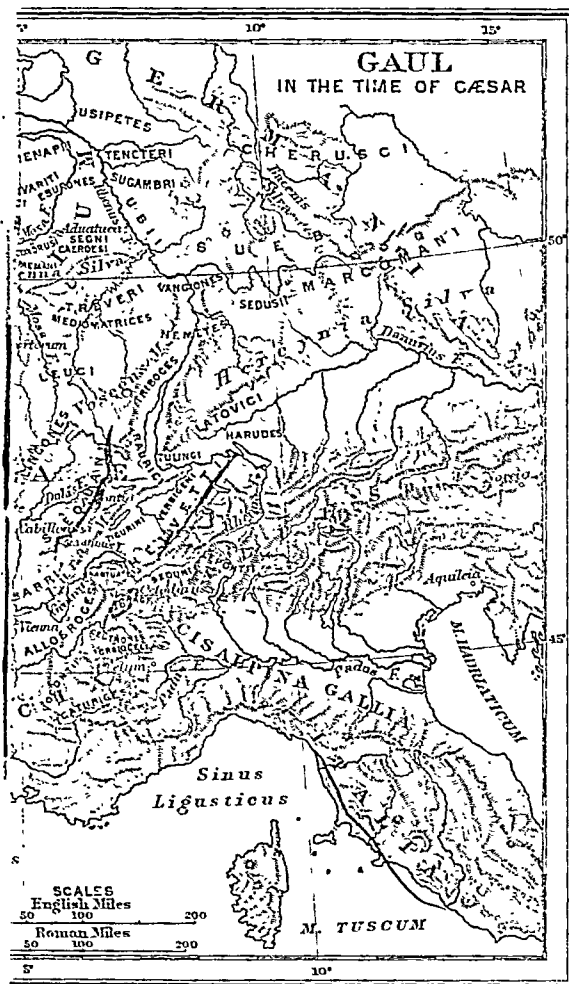

1. The verb agrees with its subject in number and person (and gender in the compound tenses).
2. The adjective agrees with its substantive in gender, number, and case.
3. The relative agrees with its antecedent in gender and number; for case it looks to its own verb.

PARSING.

1. Verb. Person, number, tense, mood, and voice, from ——— (give the parts). Agrees with ———, its subject.
2. Noun. Case, number, and gender, from ———, of the ——— declension. Give the reason for the case.
3. Adjective. Case, number, and gender, from ——— and is declined like ———. It agrees with its substantive ———. Give the comparative and superlative.
4. Relative. Case, number, and gender, from ———. It agrees with its antecedent ———. Give the reason for the case.

CAESAR'S HELVETIAN WAR.

INTRODUCTION.

1. Gallia omnis in tres partes divisa est :
Unam partem Belgae, alteram Aquitani, tertiam Galli incolunt :
Hi omnes linguâ, institutis, legibus inter se differunt :
Gallos ab Aquitanis Garumna flumen, a Belgis Matrona et Sequana dividit. 5
2. Horum omnium fortissimi sunt Belgae :
nam a cultu atque humanitate provinciae longissime absunt nec saepe mercatores ad eos commeant :
neque important eas res, quas animos hominum effeminant. 10
- Proximi sunt Germanis, qui trans Rhenum incolunt :
cum iis continenter bellum gerunt. 15
3. His de causis Helvetii quoque reliquos Gallos virtute praecedunt :
fere quotidianis proeliis cum Germanis contendunt.

Gaul divided into three parts :
Belgium, Gaul proper, and Aquitania.

THE HELVETIAN WAR.

Una pars Gallorum a flumine Rhodano initium 20 capit:

continetur Garumnâ flumine, Oceano, finibus Belgarum:

attingit etiam flumen Rhênus: vergit ad reptentriones.

25 4. Belgae ab extremis partibus Galliae oriuntur:
ad inferiorem partem fluminis Rheni pertinent:
spectant in septentrionem et orientem solem.

Aquitania a Garumnâ flumine ad Pyrenaeos montes pertinet:

30 spectat inter occasum solis et septentrionem.

Ambition of Orgetorix, a native prince. fuit Orgetorix:

Is, cupiditate regni inductus, conjura-tionem nobilitatis fecerat.

35 Civitati persuasit, ut de finibus suis cum omnibus copiis exirent:

totius enim Galliae imperium occupare cupivit.

Id facillime eis persuasit.

6 6. Helvetii enim undique loci naturâ continentur:

40 una ex parte flumen Rhenus altissimus et latissimus
est:

alterâ ex parte est Mons Jura altissimus:

tertiâ ex parte lacus Lemannus et flumen Rhodanus nostram provinciam ab Helvetiis dividit.

7. His de causis Helvetii non late vagari potuerunt : 45 nec facile finitimis bellum inferre potuerunt :

Pro multitudine hominum et pro gloriâ belli fines Helvetiorum angusti esse videbantur. 50

Hi autem fines in longitudinem milliâ passuum ducenta et quadraginta, in latitudinem centum et octoginta patebant.

maximas sementes faciunt :

itaque ad iter copia frumenti suppetebat. 60

Cum proximis civitatibus pacem et amicitiam confirmant :

ad has res duo anni illis satis esse videbantur.

9. Tercio anno proficisci statuerunt.

Orgetorix sibi legationem ad civitates Plot of Orgetorix 65

In Sequanis erat Casticus, Catamantaloedis filius :

pater ejus regnum in Sequanis multos annos obtinuerat :

a senatu populi Romani amicis appellatus erat :

ei persuadet, ut regnum in civitate sua occupet.

Dumnorigi etiam Aeduo, fratri Divitiaci, qui eo tempore principatum obtinebat, idem persuadet :
eique filiam suam in matrimonium dat.

75 10. Inter se fidem et iuramentum dant :
per tres potentissimos et firmissimos populos totius Galliae sese potiri posse sperant.

Ea res Helvetiis per indicium enuntiata est.

Moribus suis Orgetorigem ex vinculis causam dicere 80 coegerunt :

ei, si damnaretur, mortem minabantur.

Dies dicendae causae constituta est :

Orgetorix ad iudicium omnem suam familiam undique coegit ;

85 et omnes clientes obaeratosque suos eodem conduxit :
et per eos se eripuit.

Death of Orgetorix. 11. Civitas, ob eam rem incitata, ius suum armis exsequi conabatur :

et magistratus multos homines ex agris coegebant :
90 sed Orgetorix mortuus est,
et Helvetii arbitrantur eum ipsum sibi mortem conscivisse.

Post mortem ejus Helvetii e sinibus suis exire parant.

95 Primum oppida sua omnia, vicosque, et reliqua privata aedificia incendunt :

frumentum omne, praeterquam quod secum portaturi erant, comburunt :

THE HELVETIAN WAR.

itaque spes domum reditionis sublata est :
et omnes ad pericula subeunda paratiores erant.

12. Raurici autem et Tulingi et Latovici, finitimi eorum, eodem consilio usi sunt :

oppida sua vicosque exurunt, et una <sup>Other tribes join cum iis proficiscuntur :

et Boios ad se socios adsciscunt. 10

Erant omnino itinera duo, quibus itineribus domo exire poterant :

unum per Sequanos, angustum et difficile, inter montem Juram et flumen Rhodanum ;

mons autem altissimus impendebat, et facile per- 110
pauci prohibere poterant :

alterum per provinciam nostram erat multo facilius atque expeditius :

nam inter fines Helvetiorum et Allobrogum Rhodanus fluit : . 115

isque nonnullis locis vado transitur.

Extremum oppidum Allobrogum est Genava :

ex eo oppido pons ad Helvetios pertinet.

13. Existimant se Allobrogibus vel persuadere vel vi cogere posse, ut per suos fines eos ire patiantur. 120

omnes res ad profectionem comparant : diem conventus dicunt.

Caesari nuntiatum est eos per provinciam nostram
iter facere conari :

maturat ab urbe proficisci et in Galliam <sup>Caesar advances ulteriorem contendit et ad Genavam pervenit :

maximum numerum militum toti provincie imperat :

erat omnino in Gallia ulteriore legio una :

130 pontem, qui erat ad Genavam, rescindi jubet.

14. De ejus adventu Helvetii certiores fiunt :

Ambassadors are sent to him. et legatos ad eum nobilissimos civitatis mittunt :

ejus legationis Nannaeus et Verucloetius principem

135 locum obtinebant :

dicebant se velle voluntate ejus sine ullo maleficio iter per provinciam facere :

Caesar memoriâ tenet L. Cassium consulem occisum esse, ejus exercitumque ab Helvetiis pulsum, et sub 140 jugum missum esse :

itaque concedendum esse non putabat :

si facultas per provinciam itineris faciendi daretur, non existimabat homines inimico animo temperaturos esse ab injuriâ et maleficio.

145 Legatis respondit, se diem ad deliberandum sumpturum esse :

milites enim, quos imperaverat, nondum convenerant :

legatos ad Idus Apriles reverti jubet.

150 15. Interea a lacu Lemanno, qui in flumen Rho-

Deinde praesidia disponit, et castella communit :

ita, si transire conarentur, facilius eos prohibere 155
poterat.

Tandem ea dies, quam cum legatis constituerat,
venit, et legati ad eum revertuntur :

negat se posse iter ulli per provinciam dare :

si vim facere conarentur, se prohibiturum ostendit. 160

Helvetii eâ spe dejecti sunt :

alii naves jungunt ratesque complures faciunt :

alii, nonnunquam interdum, sæpius noctu, vadis

Rhodani perrumpere conati sunt :

hic enim minima altitudo fluminis erat : 165

sed operis munitione et militum concursu et telis repulsi sunt :

itaque hoc conatu destiterunt.

16. Relinquebatur una per Sequanos via :

sed primo Sequani iter dare volebant : ^{The Sequani al-} ^{low them to pass.} 170

neque illis suâ sponte persuadere poterant :

deinde autem legatos ad Dumnorigem Aeduum mittunt, ut ille deprecator sit.

Dumnorige gratiâ et largitione apud Sequanos plurimum poterat : 175

et Helvetiis erat amicus :

nam ex eâ civitate filiam Orgetorigis in matri-monium duxerat :

et adductus cupiditate regni novis rebus studebat :

civitatis quam plurimis amicus esse volebat.

Eo deprecatore, Sequani Helvetios per suos fines

dantque inter se obsides :

Sequani, ne itinere Helvetios prohibeant :

185 Helvetii, ut sine maleficio et injuriâ transcant.

17. Caesari renuntiatum est Helvetios velle per agrum Sequanorum et Aedunorum iter in Santonum fines facere :

ii non longe a Tolosatium finibus absunt : ea civitas 190 est in provinciâ.

Intelligebat, si homines bellicosi, populi Romani inimici, loca patentia, maxineque frumentaria, haberent, id provinciae periculosum fore.

Ob eas causas ei munitioni, quam fecerat, T.
195 Labienum legatum praefecit :

ipse in Italiam magnis itineribus contendit :

duasque ibi legiones conscribit :

tres autem legiones circum Aquileiam hiemabant :

eas ex hibernis educit :

200 cum his quinque legionibus in ulteriorem Galliam per Alpes ire contendit.

18. Ibi Ceutrones et Graioceli et Caturiges loca superiora occupaverant, ii itinere Caesarem prohibere conantur :

205 hos compluribus proeliis repulit.

Ab Ocelo in fines Vocontiorum die septimo pervenit :
inde in Allobrogum fines, ab Allobrogibus in Segusiavos exercitum ducit.

Ili sunt extra provinciam trans Rhodanum primi.

210 Helvetii jam per angustias et fines Sequanorum suas copias traduxerant: in Aeduorum fines pervenerant:

eorumque agros populabantur.

Aedui autem se suaque defendere non poterant:

itaque legatos ad Caesarem mittunt.

The Aedui ask

19. Dicebant se omni tempore bene de populo Romano meritos esse:

neque suos agros paene in conspectu Romani exercitus vastari debere:

nec liberos in servitutem adduci, neque oppida ²²⁰
expugnari debere.

Eodem tempore quaedam gens Aeduorum, nomine Ambarri, Caesarem certiore faciant suos agros ab Helvetiis vastatos esse:

nec se ab oppidis vim hostium prohibere posse. ²²⁵

Item Allobroges, qui trans Rhodanum vicos possessionesque habebant, fugam se ad Caesarem recipiunt.

Demonstrant se habere nihil reliqui praeter agri solum.

Itaque Caesar non exspectandum sibi statuit, dum ²³⁰
Helvetii in Santones pervenirent: nam omnes fortunae sociorum consumeantur.

20. Flumen est Arar, quod per fines Aeduorum et Sequanorum in Rhodanum influit: ob <sup>Caesar overtakes feats them.</sup> incredibilem lenitatem, in utram partem ²³⁵

fluat, non oculis judicari potest.

Id Helvetii ratibus ac lintribus junctis transibant.

Caesar per exploratores certior factus est tres jam

partes copiarum id flumen transisse : quartam fere par 240 tem citra flumen Ararim reliquam esse : itaque de tertiâ vigiliâ cum legionibus tribus a castris profectus est :
ad eam partem pervenit, quæ nondum flumen transierat.

Eos impeditos et inopinantes aggressus, magnam 245 partem eorum concidit : reliqui sese fugæ mandarunt, atque in proximas silvas abdiderunt.

21. Is pagus appellabatur Tigurinus :

nam omnis Helvetia in quattuor pagos divisa est.

Hic pagus unus memoriâ patrum nostrorum domo 250 oxierat :

L. Cassium consulem interfecerat, et ejus exercitum sub jugum miserat.

Hic pagus insignem calamitatem populo Romano
intulerat : itaque nunc, sive casu sive consilio deorum 255 immortalium, is princeps poenas persolvit.

Qua in re Caesar non solum publicas sed etiam privatas injurias ultus est :

nam in eodem proelio ejus soceri L. Pisonis avus, L. Piso interfectus erat.

260 Post hoc proelium pontem in Arare facit et exer-citum traducit :

hoc modo reliquas copias Helvetiorum facilius
consequi poterat.

22. Helvetii repentino ejus adventu commoti sunt :

265 Caesar enim id uno die fecerat, quod ii viginti diebus acerrime confecerant, ut flumen transirent.

Legatos ad eum mittunt; cujus legationis Divico princeps fuit, qui bello Cassiano dux Helvetiorum fuerat.

Is ita cum Caesare egit : 270

Si populus Romanus nobiscum pacem facere volet, nos in eam partem ibimus, ubi nos constitueris :
 sin bello persequi perseveres, ne oblitus sis pristinae virtutis Helvetiorum. Unum pagum vicisti, ne ob eam rem Helvetios despexeris. Magis enim virtute 275 quam dolo aut insidiis niti solemus.

23. His Caesar respondit, 'Non possum recentium injuriarum memoriam deponere. Me invito, iter per provinciam per vim temptavistis. Æduos et Ambarros et Allobrogas vexavistis. Cum ea ita sint, 280 tamen si obsides dare vultis, si Æduis et Allobrogibus satisfacere parati estis, vobiscum pacem faciam.'

Tum Divico 'Ita' inquit 'a majoribus institutum ut obsides accipere non dare consueverimus : ejus rei populus Romanus testis est.' 285

Hoc responso dato, discessit. Postero die castra ex eo loco movent. Idem facit Caesar : equitatum omnem praemittit : vident quas in partes hostes iter faciant. Sed cupidius novissimum hostium agmen insecuti sunt : alieno loco cum equitatu Helvetiorum proelium 290 committunt : et pauci de nostris cadunt.

24. Hoc proelio Helvetiorum animi sublati sunt : audacius subsistere, et nostros novissimo agmine proelio lacessere coeperunt.

295 Caesar autem suos a proelio continebat :
et vix hostem rapinis et pabulationibus et populationibus prohibere poterat.

Ita dies circiter quindecim iter fecerunt :
et inter novissimum agmen hostium et nostrum 300 primum non amplius quinis aut senis millibus passuum intererat.

25. Interim cotidie Caesar Æduos frumentum, Dumortre pre- quod essent publice polliciti, flagitabat :
vents the Ædui from sending corn to Caesar. nam propter frigora frumenta in agris 305 immatura non erant :

nec pabuli satis magna copia suppetebat :
eo autem frumento, quod flumine Arare navibus subvexerat, uti non poterat :
iter enim ab Arare Helvetii averterant, a quibus 310 discedere nolebat.

Diem ex die ducunt Ædui :
dicunt frumentum conferri, comportari, adesse.
Conference be- 26. Caesar se diutius duci intelligit :
tween Caesar
and Divitiacus and Liscus. dies enim jam instabat, quo die fru-315 mentum militibus metiri oportebat :

itaque Æduorum principes convocat :
ex his Divitiacum et Liscum, qui summo magistratui præerat, graviter accusat, quod tam necessario tempore, tam propinquis hostibus, ab iis non sublevetur ; 320 multo etiam gravius queritur, quod sit destitutus, cum magnâ ex parte eorum precibus adductus bellum susceperit.

27. Tum demum Liscus oratione Caesaris adductus,
'Sunt' inquit, 'nonnulli, quorum auctoritas apud plebem plurimum valet: 325

ii privatim plus possunt quam ipsi magistratus.

Hi seditiosâ atque improbâ oratione multitudinem deterrent, ne frumentum vobis conferant.

Dicunt satius esse, si jam principatum Galliae obtinere non possimus, Gallorum quam Romanorum 330
imperia perferre:

neque se dubitare quin, si Helvetios superaveritis,
una cum reliquâ Galliâ nobis libertatem sitis erepturi.

Hi vestra consilia, et ea, quae in castris geruntur, hostibus enuntiant: neque eos coercere possumus. 335

Intelligo quanto cum periculo haec tibi enuntiem, et ob eam causam, quam diu potui, taciui.'

28. Hac oratione Lisci Dumnorix, Divitiaci frater, designabatur: Caesar autem, pluribus praesentibus,
eas res jactari nolebat: celeriter concilium dimittit, 340
Liscum retinet.

Quaerit ex solo ea, quae in conventu dixerat.

Dicit liberior atque audacius.

Eadem secreto ab aliis quaerit: repperit esse vera. 345

ex eo audit Dumnorigem esse summâ audaciâ hominem:

illum propter liberalitatem magnâ apud plebem
gratiâ esse:

novarum rerum cupidum esse. 350

Complures annos portoria reliquaque omnia Æduorum vectigalia parvo pretio redemerat.

nam, illo licente, nemo contra liceri ausus est.

29. His rebus suam rem familiarem auxerat :

355 et facultates ad largiendum magnas comparaverat :
 'magnum numerum equitatûs suo sumptu semper alit, et circum se habet :

non solum domi, sed etiam apud finitimas civitates
 largiter poterat :

360 hujus potentiae causâ matrem in Biturigibus homini illic nobilissimo ac potentissimo collocaverat :

et ipse ex Helvetiis uxorem duxerat :

sororem et propinquas suas aliarum civitatum principibus in matrimonium dederat.

365 Favet Helvetiis propter eam affinitatem :

odit etiam suo nomine Caesarem et Romanos :

eorum enim adventu potentia ejus deminuta erat, et Divitiacus frater in antiquum locum gratiae atque honoris restitutus erat.

370 30. Sperat se, si quid accadat Romanis, regnum per Helvetios obtinere posse : imperio populi Romani non modo de regno, sed etiam de eâ, quam habet, gratiâ, desperat.

Reperiebat etiam in quaerendo Caesar, cum paucis

375 Caesar resolves

norix. ante diebus equites adversum proelium gessissent, Dumnorigem atque ejus equites initium illius fugae fecisse : nam equitatu, quem auxilio Caesari Ædúi miserant, Dumnorix

præcerat: eorum fugâ reliquum esse equitatum perterritum. 38c

Quibus rebus cognitis, certissimæ res ad has suspiciones accedebant. Dumnorix enim per fines Sequanorum Helvetios traduxerat: obsides inter eos dandos curaverat: ea omnia nec Caesar jusserat, neque Ædui ipsi cognoverant: a magistratu Æduorum 385 accusatus erat. Quas ob res Caesar satis causæ esse arbitratur, quare in eum aut ipse animadverteret, aut civitatem animadvertere juberet.

31. His omnibus rebus unum repugnabat:

Caesar Divitiaci fratris summum in populum 390
Romanum studium, summam in se voluntatem, egregiam fidem, justitiam, temperantiam, cognoverat:
et verebatur, ne ejus supplicio Divitiaci animum offenderet.

Itaque primo Divitiacum ad se vocat: cotidianos 395

familiarem suum, cui summam omnium rerum fidem habebat, cum eo colloquitur.

Simul docet, quæ in concilio Gallorum de Dum- 400 norige dicta sint; ostendit quæ separatim quisque de eo apud se dixerit. Petit atque hortatur, ut sine ejus offensione animi vel ipse de eo, causâ cognitâ, statuât, vel civitatem statuere jubeat.

32. Divitiacus multis cum lacrimis Caesarem ob- 405 secrat, ne quid gravius in fratrem statuât. Dicit se scire illa esse vera, nec quemquam ex eo plus quam se doloris capere; se enim gratiâ plurimum domi atque in reliquâ Galliâ, Dumnorigem minimum propter 410 adolescentiam potuisse; illum per se crevisse: iis opibus illum non solum ad minuendam gratiam, sed paeno ad perniciem suam usum esse. Sese tamen et amore fraterno et existinatione vulgi commoveri. Quod si quid ei a Caesare gravius accidisset, cum ipse 415 eum locum amicitiae apud eum teneret, omnes existimatos id voluntate suâ factum esse: quam-ob-rem totius Galliae animos a se aversum iri.

33. Haec cum pluribus verbis flens a Caesare peteret, Caesar ejus dextram prendit: consolatur 420 rogat, ut finem orandi faciat: ostendit se tanti Divitiacum aestimare, ut et reipublicae injuriam et suum dolorem ejus voluntati ac precibus condonet. Dumnorigem ad se vocat, fratrem adhibet: ostendit, quae in eo reprehendat: proponit, quae ipse intelligat, 425 quae civitas queratur: monet, ut in reliquum tempus omnes suspiciones vitet; praeterita se Divitiaco fratri condonare dicit. Dumnorigi custodes ponit, ut, quae agat, quibuscum loquatur, scire possit.

34. Eodem die ab exploratoribus certior factus est 430 Caesar resolved to attack the enemy both in front and rear, but he was balked by a false alarm. hostes sub monte concedisse millia passuum ab ipsius castris octo: misit, qui cognoscerent, qualis esset natura montis et qualis in circuitu ascensus. Renutium est facilem esse. De tertiâ vigiliâ Titum

Labienum, legatum propraetore, cum duabus legionibus 435 et iis ducibus qui iter cognoverant, summum jugum montis ascendere jubet: suum consilium ostendit.
 Ipse de quartâ vigiliâ eodem itinere, quo hostes
 ierant, ad eos contendit, equitatumque ante se mittit.
 P. Considius, qui rei militaris peritissimus habebatur, 440 et in exercitu L. Sullae et postea in M. Crassi fuerat, cum exploratoribus praemittitur.

35. Primâ luce summus mons a Labieno tenebatur:
 Caesar ipse ab hostium castris non longius mille et quingentis passibus aberat, neque, ut postea ab cap- 445 tivis comperit, aut ipsius adventus aut Labieni cognitus est: Considius, equo admisso, ad eum accurrit;
 dicit montem, quem a Labieno occupari voluerit, ab
 hostibus teneri: se id a Gallicis armis atque insignibus cognovisse. Caesar suas copias in proximum collem 450 subducit, aciem instruit. Caesar Labieno praeceperat, ne proelium committeret, nisi ipsius copiae prope hostium castra visae essent, ut undique uno tempore in hostes impetus fieret; monte occupato, nostros expectabat, proelioque abstinebat. 455

36. Multo denique die per exploratores Caesar cognovit, et montem a suis teneri, et Helvetios castra movisse, et Considium timore perterritum, quod non vidisset, pro viso sibi renuntiasset: eodem die solito intervallo hostes sequitur, et millia passuum tria ab 460 eorum castris castra ponit.

Postridie ejus diei } omnino biduum supererat,
 P

cum exercitui frumentum metiri oporteret, et quod a 465 Cæsar marches to Bibracte, followed by the Helvetii. Bibracte, oppido Aeduorum longe maxi-mo et copiosissimo non amplius millium passuum duodeviginti aberat, rei fru-mentariæ prospiciendum esse existimavit: iter ab Helvetiis avêrtit ac Bibracte ira contendit. Ea res per fugitivos L. Aemilii, decurionis equitum Gallorum, 470 hostibus nuntiatur.

37. Helvetii Romanos summo timore perterritos discedero a se existimabant, quod pridie, superioribus locis occupatis, proelium non commiserant. Eos re frumentariâ intercludi posse confidebant. Commutato 475 consilio iter convertunt: nostros a novissimis agmine insequi ac lacerare coeperunt.

Cæsar id animum advertit, et copias suas in prox-ima collem subduxit, equitatumque, 480 Cæsar defeats the Helvetii near Bibracte. qui sustineret hostium impetum, misit.
 Ipso interim in colle medio triplicem aciem instruxit legionum quattuor veteranorum: sed in summo jugo duas legiones, quas in Galliâ citiore proxime conscripserat, et omnia auxilia collocat:
 totum montem hominibus complet, et interea sarcinas 485 in unum locum confert, et cum ab his, qui in superiore acie constiterant, muniri jubet.

38. Helvetii, cum omnibus suis carris secuti, impedimenta in unum locum contulerunt: ipsi con-fertissimâ acie, rejecto nostro equitatu, phalangem 490 fecerunt et sub primam nostram aciem successerunt.

Caesar, primum suum, deinde omnium ex conspectu equos removet; itaque aequato omnium periculo spem fugae tollit: cohortatus suos proelium commisit. Milites e loco superiore pilis missis facile hostium phalangem perfregerunt. Ea disiecta, gladiis de- 495 strictis in eos impetum fecerunt. Gallis magno ad pugnam erat impedimento, quod pluribus eorum scutis uno ictu pilorum transfixis et colligatis, cum ferrum se inflexisset, neque evellere, neque, sinistrâ impeditâ, satis commode pugnare poterant, multi ut diu jactato 500 brachio praeoptarent scutum manu emittere et nudo corpore pugnare.

39. Tandem vulneribus defessi et pedem referre et, quod mons suberat circiter mille passuum, eo se recipere coeperunt. Capto monte, nostri succedunt. 505 Boii et Tulingi, qui hominum millibus circiter quindecim agmen hostium claudebant et novissimis praesidio erant, ex itinere nostros latere aperto aggressi, circumvenire coeperunt.

Id conspicati Helvetii, qui in montem sese recep- 510 erant, rursus instare et proelium redintegrare coeperunt. Romani signa converterunt, et bipartito intulerunt: prima et secunda acies, ut victis ac summotis militibus resisteret, tertia, ut venientes sustineret. Ita ancipiti proelio diu atque acriter 515 pugnatum est.

40. Impetus nostrorum diutius sustinere non poterant: alteri se, ut coeperant, in montem recep-erunt; alteri ad impedimenta et carros suos se 520 contulerunt. Nam hoc toto proelio, cum ab hora septimâ ad vesperum pugnatum sit, aversum hostem videre nemo potuit. Ad multam noctem etiam ad impedimenta pugnatum est; propterea quod pro vallo carros objecerant et e loco superiore in nostros 525 venientes tela conjiciebant, et nonnulli inter carros rotasque mataras ac tragulas subiciebant, nostrosque vulnerabant. Cum diu pugnatum esset, nostri im-pedimentis castrisque potiti sunt. Ibi Orgetorigis filia atque unus e filiis captus est.

530 41. Ex eo proelio circiter hominum centum et triginta millia superfuerunt, eâque totâ nocte con-tinenter ierunt. Iter nullam partem noctis intermiserunt: die quarto in fines Lingonum pervenerunt:
propter vulnera militum et propter sepulturam oc-535 cisorum nostri triduum morati eos sequi non potu-erunt. Caesar ad Lingonas litteras nuntiosque misit, ne eos frumento neve aliâ re juvarent: qui si juvissent, dixit, se eodem loco, quo Helvetios, habiturum.
Ipse, triduo intermisso, cum omnibus copiis eos sequi 540 coepit.

Helvetii omnium rerum inopiâ adducti legatos de deditione ad eum miserunt. Qui cum eum in itinere convenissent, se ad pedes projecerunt, suppliciterque locuti flentes

545 pacem petierunt: et cum eos in eo loco, quo tum essent, suum adventum exspectare jussisset, paruerunt.

42. Eo postquam Caesar pervenit, obsides, arma, servos, qui ad eos perfugissent, poposcit. Dum ea conquiruntur et conferuntur, nocte intermissâ, circiter hominum millia sex ejus pâgi, qui Verbigenus ap- 550 pellatur, sive timore perterriti, ne supplicio afficerentur, sive spe salutis adducti, in tantâ multitudine dediticiorum suam fugam aut occultari aut omnino ignorari posse existimabant: itaque primâ nocte e castris Helvetiorum egressi ad Rhenum finesque Germanorum 555 contenderunt. Quod ubi Caesar rescivit, quorum per fines ierant, his, ut conquirerent et reducerent, si sibi purgati esse vellent, imperavit: reductos in hostium numero habuit: reliquos omnes obsidibus, armis, perfugis traditis, in deditionem accepit. 560

43. Helvetios, Tulingos, Latovicos in fines suos, unde erant profecti, reverti jussit: quod, omnibus frugibus amissis, domi nihil erat, quo famem tolerarent, Allobrogibus imperavit, ut iis frumenti copiam facerent; ipsos oppida vicosque, quos incenderant, 565 restituere jussit. Id maxime eâ ratione fecit, quod noluit, eum locum, unde Helvetii discesserant, vacare: ne propter bonitatem agrorum Germani, qui trans Rhenum incolunt, e suis finibus in Helvetiorum fines transirent, et finitimi Galliae provinciae Allobrogibus- 570 que essent. Aedui petierunt, ut Boios in finibus suis collocarent, et Caesar concessit. His agros dedierunt: et postea in eandem juris libertatisque conditionem, quam ipsi habuerunt, receperunt.

575 44. In castris Helvetiorum tabulae repertae sunt, Documenta found stating the number of the Helvetii. litteris Graecis confectae, et ad Caesarem relatae; quibus in tabulis nominatim ratio confecta erat, quot domo exissent eorum, qui arma ferre possent, et item separatim pueri, senes 580 mulieresque. Quarum omnium rerum summa erat capitum Helvetiorum ducenta et sexaginta tria millia.
 Tulingorum sex et triginta millia, Latovicorum quat-tuordecim, Rauricorum tria et viginti, Boiorum duo et triginta; ex his qui arma ferre possent, ad nona-585 ginta duo millia. Summa omnium erat ad trecenta et sexaginta octo millia.

Eorum, qui domum redierunt, censu habito, ut
 Caesar imperaverat, reperti sunt centum et decem millia.

NOTES.

1. Omnis, not 'all Gaul,' but 'Gaul as a whole.'
4. inter se, 'from each other': a common expression with verbs of comparison or contrast.
7. Matrona et Sequana. The Matroná (Marne) flows into the Sequana (Seine) a few miles above Paris.
9. provinciae. The district always spoken of by Caesar as provincia or provincia nostra lies to the south of the Cevennes, and extends from the Alps on the east to the Garonne on the west. The Romans gained a permanent footing in the district about 121 B.C., and it was called variously 'provincia,' 'Gallia Transalpina,' or 'Gallia Ulterior.' Later it was known by the name of Gallia Narbonensis. Provence is a survival of the name 'provincia.'
- longissime absunt*, 'are farthest removed from.'
21. Oceano, the Atlantic Ocean.
23. septentriones, a word used in the singular as well as plural, signifying the constellation of the 'Great Bear,' or 'Charles's Wain;' hence the 'North.'
27. orientem solem, the east. 30. occasum solis, the west.
31. Helvetios. See Introduction.
- ditissimus*, superlative of dives, contracted form of divitissimus.
33. regni, 'regal power.'
34. nobilitatis. Nobilitas = the body of 'nobiles.' The Gauls were divided into two classes, rich and poor.
36. exirent. Find out the reason for every verb in the subjunctive mood. Here exirent is subjunctive expressing purpose with ut.

39. loei natura, 'the natural features of the place.' These natural features were the Jura on the west, on the south the Lake of Geneva and the Rhone, on the north and east the Rhine.

49. pro, 'in proportion to.'

51. milla passuum, 'miles.' The Roman mile, a thousand paces, was about 142 yards less than an English mile. Millia, acc. case. Why?

73. principatum, 'the first place' in influence.

76. firmissimos, 'most resolute.'

78. per indicium, 'by information,' that is 'by informers.'

79. ex vinculis, 'in chains,' a phrase similar to 'ex equo' = on horseback.

81. damnaretur, 'if he were to be condemned,' subjunctive because a pure supposition.

82. dicendae causae, 'for making his defence.'

83. famillam, a Roman expression, which in its widest sense includes not only relations but slaves, vassals, and debtors reduced to a condition of slavery.

87. jus suum, 'its rights.' Orgetorix procured his acquittal by intimidation, but the 'magistrates' roused the people to arms to maintain their authority.

91. sibi mortem conscivisse, 'that he committed suicide.'

99. domum reditiōis, 'of a return home.' Domum is acc. governed by the verbal notion in the noun 'reditiōis.'

101. Raurici et Tulingi et Latovici, tribes on the German side of the Rhine.

127. provinciae imperat, 'imposes on the province a requisition for a very large number of troops.' This is a common Roman expression for demands of men or supplies of corn.

129. Gallia ulteriore = the province: called ulterior in contrast to Gallia citerior, which lay upon the Italian side of the Alps.

130. ad, 'in the neighbourhood of.'

135. obtinebant, not 'obtained' but 'held.'

136. ejus, i.e. Caesar.

138. L. Cassium. In B.C. 107 the Tigurini, one of the cantons of the Helvetii, marched into the territory of the Allobroges, led by Divico. They defeated the consul, L. Cassius Longinus, who was killed in the engagement.

141. concedendum esse, impersonal gerundive, 'that permission ought to be given.'

143. temperaturos esse, would refrain from: temperare in this sense is not generally found without sibi.

145. diem, 'time.'

147. imperaverat, 'he had demanded.'

149. ad, 'by.' Idus Aprilis = April 13th.

151. infuit. Caesar is speaking of that part of the lake where the river flows from it.

ad montem Juram. The wall and ditch were made from the point where the Rhone flows from the lake to a point on the south bank of the river close to where the Jura abuts on the north bank of the Rhone, at Fort L'Ecluse.

171. suâ sponte, 'by their own means.'

173. deprecator, one who uses an earnest entreaty: translate here 'mediator' to suit the context.

179. novis rebus studebat, 'was aiming at a revolution.'

184. ne . . . prohibeant, 'not to stop the Helvetii on the march,' a negative purpose after dant obsides.

187. Santonum. The Santones occupied the country on the lower Garonne. Their chief town, Mediolanum Santonum, is Saintes on the Charente.

189. Tolosatum. The capital of the Tolosates was taken by A. Servilius Caepio, B.C. 106, in the war with the Cimbri and Teutones.

196. magnis itineribus, 'by forced marches.'

200. legionibus. At the commencement of this campaign, Caesar's forces would number about 24,000 men.

206. Ocelo. If Ocelum be Usseaux in Piedmont, then Caesar must have marched into Gaul over the Mont Genève.

ab, 'from the neighbourhood of Ocelum.'

210. Helvetii. The Helvetii numbered in men, women, and children, nearly 400,000.

213. populabantur. Notice the change of tense, 'were laying waste.'

216. omni tempore, 'always.'

223. Caesarem certioorem faciunt. Note the phrases facere certioorem and certior fieri, 'to inform,' and 'to be informed.'

228. nihil reliqu. Reliqui is the neuter genitive of the adjective used as a noun. Note this use, and compare with it multum boni, plus mali, etc. Translate, 'nothing remaining.'

230. non expectandum, etc., 'decided that he ought not to wait.' This is the impersonal gerundive with esse understood.

231. pervenirent. Dum with facts takes indicative, with contingencies or possibilities, subjunctive. Translate, 'until they should arrive.'

232. sociorum, i.e. the Aedui, who had been allies of the Romans for 50 years, and the Allobroges.

233. Arar. Its modern name is Saône, derived from another name sometimes given to the river, Sauconna. It forms the boundary line between the Aedui and Sequani.

236. fluat. Subj. in indirect question. in utram partem, 'in which direction'

238. tres jam partes, 'fully three parts.' Jam is often so placed.

240. de tertiâ vigiliâ, 'at the beginning of the third watch.' For civil as well as for military purposes the Roman night was divided into four 'vigiliae' of three hours each; first watch, 6 to 9 p.m., second watch, 9 to 12, and so on.

248. quattuor pagos. Caesar says that Helvetia is divided into four cantons. He only gives the name of two of them, the Tigurini and the Verbigeni. The Tigurini probably occupied the country between the lakes of Morat and Geneva: it is supposed that the Verbigeni lived immediately east of them. Strabo gives the name of the third as Tugeni, whose name is said to survive in Tugen, a village at the east end of Lake Zürich. The name of the fourth is unknown.

253. insiguem calamitatem. See note on line 138.

258. ejus soceri, Caesar's father-in-law. Caesar had married Calpurnia, daughter of Piso, the year before.

260. in Arare, 'on the Arar.'

265. fecerat, viz., had bridged the Arar. It must have been done by boats.

267. Divico. He must now have been a very old man, for the battle with Cassius had been fought fifty years before, in B.C. 107.

270. egit. Note the phrase 'agere cum,' 'to have dealings with,' here = 'to hold parley with.'

273. ne oblitus sis, 'do not forget.' Ne with the imperative is not used in good prose; it usually takes either pres. or perf. subjunctive.

277. His, legatis.

278. me invito, 'without my permission.'

280. Cum ea ita sint, 'though these things are so.'

Allobrogas. The Greek accusative plural is usual in the case of foreign names.

288. vident, plural, as equitatus is collective.

289. cupidius, 'too eagerly.'

novissimum agmen, 'the rear of the column.' Novus, like velus, has in good Latin no comparative. Vetustior supplies the place of veterior, and magis novus of novior. Novissimus always means 'last.'

290. alieno, 'unfavourable.'

292. sublati sunt, 'were elated.'

298. iter fecerunt, 'marched'

300. quinis, senis. The distributive numeral used here shows that the interval of five or six miles was kept up on each of the fifteen days.

303. flagitabat, 'kept on asking.' Note the double accusative Aeduos frumentum.

essent polliciti, subjunctive because a part of Caesar's demand: not 'which they had promised,' but 'which (he said) they had promised.'

307. flumine, navibus. Why ablative?

311. diem ex die. Diem is an adverbial accusative, not the object of ducunt. The phrase fully expressed would be ducunt in diem ex die Caesarem. Ducunt, 'put him off.'

312. conferri, 'contributed' by individuals: comportari, 'brought' to Caesar: adesse, 'was close at hand.'

313. diutius, 'too long.'

314. frumentum. Each infantry soldier had a monthly allowance of four bushels of corn; each of the cavalry twelve of corn and forty-two of barley.

317. magistratui, in abstract sense, 'office.'

318. tam necessario tempore, 'at so urgent a crisis.'

319. sublevetur, subjunctive, because not expressing only a fact, but because the want of help is the ground of Caesar's accusation.

321. magna ex parte, 'to a great extent.'

325. plurimum valet, 'has most weight with.'

326. privatim, 'as private individuals.'

329. jam...non, 'no longer.'

336. enuntiem, indirect question.

339. pluribus praesentibus, 'in the presence of too many.'

340. jactari, 'talked about.'

342. ex solo, 'from him in private.'

343. dicat, i.e. Liscus.

344. secreto, 'apart' (from Liscus).

346. audacia, abl. of quality; 'a man of the greatest audacity.'

349. gratia, 'influence.'

350. novarum rerum cupidum, 'eager for change.'

351. portoria, tolls paid for goods going in or coming out of seaports; also tolls on rivers and bridges and payable at frontiers.

352. vectigalla, all revenues, a wider term than portoria.

redemerat, 'held in contract.' The Aedui seem to have had the same practice of letting out the taxes as the Romans. These contractors were called 'publicani,' and they sub-let the collection of particular districts to others. The taxes amongst the Aedui were put up to public auction, and when Dumnorix bid ('illo licente') no one dared to bid against him.

354. rem familiarem, 'his private fortune.'

355. facultates, 'means.'

358. domi, 'in his own tribe.'

359. largiter posse, 'to have wide influence,' compare plus, plurimum, posse.

360. Biturigibus, a Celtic tribe separated from the Aedui by the (Liger) Loire. Their chief town was Avaricum.

361. collocaverat in matrimonium, 'had given in marriage.'

362. uxorem duxerat, 'had married a wife' (Orgetorix's daughter). Ducere uxorem and ducere alone are used of the bridegroom; lit. 'to lead home.'

365. favet, 'he has sympathies with.'

366. suo nomine, 'on his own account,' 'on personal grounds.'

370. si quid accidat, a euphemism, or softening down of something which might suggest disagreeable ideas, 'if anything should happen to,' etc. He does not like to suggest the idea of their defeat.

371. imperio, 'under the rule of.' A sort of abl. of time, 'when,' or perhaps abl. of 'attendant circumstances.'

374. in quaerendo, 'in the course of inquiry.'

375. paucis diebus, abl. of the measure of time. Ante, adverb.

378. auxilio Caesari, 'to the help of Caesar.' auxilio, dat. of purpose. Caesari, dat. of recipient.

377. nam...praeerat is inserted by way of parenthesis. Equitatum resumes the acc. with inf. after reperiebat.

381. res, 'facts.'

386. satis causae, 'sufficient reason.' Compare multum boni.

387. in eum animadverteret, 'punish him.'

393. ejus supplicio, 'by punishing him,' i.e., Dumnorix. ejus, objective genitive.

395. cotidianos, 'usual.'

397. principem, 'a distinguished man.'

401. dicta sint, dixerit. Why subjunctive?

de eo apud se, 'about Dumnorix in his (Caesar's) presence.'

403. causā cognitā statuāt, 'will hear the case and decide.'

406. gravius, 'too severe.'

410. per se, i.e., Divitiacus.

414. a Caesare, 'if any severe treatment should have been inflicted on him by Caesar.' accido is here regarded as a passive verb.

ipso, Divitiacus. apud eum, Caesar.

420. tanti, gen. of price, 'so highly.'

422. ejus voluntati, 'in consideration of his good will.' condonare with dat. signifies 'to forgive an offence for the sake of another person.'

423. adhibet, 'he has his brother present.'

424. reprehendat. Why subjunctive?

426. suspiciones, 'everything that would give rise to suspicion.'

426. praeterita, neut. pl., 'the past.'

Divitiaco, 'to oblige his brother Divitiacus.'

428. agat, loquatur. Why subjunctive?

433. in circuitu, 'in its circuit,' that is 'on its opposite side.'

Caesar wished to attack the enemy in the rear by sending men to ascend the heights from behind.

436. ducibus, 'as guides.'

440. rei, gen. after words signifying skill, etc.

441. L. Sullae, the Dictator, Lucius Cornelius Sulla.

M. Crassi. Marcus Licinius Crassus defeated Spartacus and the insurgent slaves in Lucania, B.C. 71.

443. primâ luce, 'at daybreak.'

448. voluerit, Caesar. Subj. because in a dependent sentence in oratio obliqua.

449. a, 'by means of.'

insignibus, 'accoutrements.'

456. multo die, 'late in the day.'

459. pro viso. Considius thought that Labienus' troops on the mountain were Gauls.

459. solito, five or six miles.

462. ejus diei: pridie and postridie may take a gen. (of the thing measured) or an acc. after them.

463. cum. Cum marks a time at the end of which the corn was to be distributed: 'only two days were wanting to the time when,' etc.

465. millium passuum, gen. after spatio understood.

469. fugitivos, 'runaway slaves.'

decurionis. Three hundred cavalry were attached to each legion. These were divided into ten turmae, each turma being commanded by three decuriones and three subordinate officers, called optiones.

473. re frumentaria. Res has generally to be translated freely according to the context: here, 'corn supply.'

480. colle medio, 'the hill half-way up.'

triplicem aciem. The legion consisted of ten cohorts. When Caesar drew up his legion in the triplex acies, there were four cohorts in front in line, with the interval of a cohort between each; in rear of these and opposite the intervals were three cohorts at cohort distance, and again three more in the rear of these covering the first line, thus :--

4	3	2	1
	7	6	5
10	9	8

485. his, 'these' already mentioned two legions.

489. confertissima acie, abl. of instrument.

489. phalangem fecerunt, 'formed a compact mass'; the front line locked their shields closely together.

490. successerunt, 'drew up to.'

491. suum, equum.

omnium, 'all his staff,' not of course the cavalry.

497. impedimento, predicative dative.

498. cum ferrum, etc., seeing that the iron head had got bent.

500. multi ut, 'so that many preferred,' etc.

501. nudo corpore, 'with bodies exposed.'

505. capto monte, 'the mountain being reached by the enemy.'

508. ex itinere, 'on their march,' as they were marching.

latere aperto, 'on the exposed flank,' which, as the shields were carried on the left arm, would be the right.

512. signa converterunt, 'wheel round.'

bipertito intulerunt, 'charged in two divisions.'

513. victis, the Helvetii on the hill.

514. venientes, the Boii and Tulingi.

515. ancipiti proello, 'on two fronts.' See plan of the battle.

518. alteri, Helvetii; alteri, Boii et Tulingi.

520. nam explains why he says contulerunt se instead of the stronger term fugerunt.

hoc, 'in the course of this,' etc.

cum, 'although.'

521. aversum, 'in flight.'

ab horâ septimâ, from '1 P.M.

522. multam noctem, 'till far on in the night.'

524. e loco superiore, 'from this vantage-ground.'

532. nullam partem, acc. of time 'how long.'

537. qui si juvissent, 'if they should aid them.'

538. eodem loco quo, 'just like the Helvetii.'

6. Renuntiant hostes repulsos esse.
7. Conare per Alpes ire.
8. Milites, Romae hiemabitis.
9. Quando legiones ex hibernis educentur ?

XIX.

If 'him,' 'them,' 'his,' 'their,' refer to the same person or persons as the subject of the principal sentence, the proper case of se or suus must be used ; if they refer to anybody else, use the proper case of the pronoun is.

1. The consul says that he has deserved well of (de) us.
2. The Helvetii said that their fields had been laid waste by them (i.e., the Romans).
3. They will betake themselves to the city.

XL.

Cum is found with the indicative or subjunctive. With the indicative it denotes simple time, with the subjunctive it denotes time and a thought, such as 'cause,' 'succession,' or 'contrast' Cum with the pluperfect subj. is a very common construction. It may be used instead of an ablative absolute.

1. Having conquered the enemy, Caesar returned to camp.
2. After driving back the cavalry, the general ordered the soldiers to hurl their lances.
3. Saying this, he ordered the general to set out.
4. Having seized the mountain, our soldiers pitched their camp.
5. Having hurled their javelins, the soldiers made an attack.

N.B.—Each of the above sentences to be translated in two ways—1. Using abl. absolute; 2. quum with pluperf. subj.

6. Cum tres horas pugnatum esset, nostri pedem rettulerunt.

7. Cum suos cohortatus esset, dux castra munivit.
8. Concilium cum dimisissêt, Caesar cum Lisco colloctus est.
